Ohioian Pleads Guilty To Robbery Charge Monday

JURY FIXED HIS PUNISHMENT AT LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Charles Fred Smith pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery here Monday and a jury fixed his punishment at life imprisonment.

The defendant was arrested, indicted and sentenced under the name of Charles A. Miller. It developed after prosecution started, however, that his real name was Charles Fred Smith. He is a native of a Cincinnati suburb.

Smith pleaded guilty of having robbed Robert B. Miller, Chicago sign company employee, of his pick-up truck and clothing while hitch-hiking with him.

Miller told Commonwealth Attorney, Holland G. Bryan, that he picked Smith up in Louisiana and paid for Smith's meals and board while driving here.

Miller said that between Hardin and here, Smith stuck a gun in his side and forced him to drive down a side road and stop. Miller said he fixed the car to roll into a ditch, thinking that he could prevent Smith from taking his truck.

However, he said that Smith kept a close eye on him while they got aid to get the truck back on the road. Smith then made him drive on and commanded him to stop the vehicle. Miller was then forced to remove all his clothing except his shoes and socks.

Miller then went on to say that Smith made him walk across a field as he drove off. Miller made his way to the nearby home of Floyd Sullivan where he secured clothing and notified the police.

An hour after Miller had been forced from the truck, Smith was arrested in Hopkinsville with the truck and Miller's clothes. When Smith was arrested, he gave his name as Charles Miller.

Smith also confessed to taking an automobile in Lawrenceville, Ind., about a month ago.

Smith said he was paroled in April from the Penitentiary at Reidsville, Georgia.

CHERRY GROVE

A sunny week just past and this is the Sabbath - day. Rest day, your body might be in a relaxed state and still your brain would be storming with past, present and future events.
Then, where is our Rest? This Scribe is brain storming since the first flowing tie I tied in a double bow knot 'neath the sailor collar of the oldest of my tribe and it wouldn't stay in place. I've been Brain Storming over "sumpin'" its pure nature for me to not to be happy unless I am miserable.

Looking over last week's Tribune, I see congratulations are in order for plenty of folks Ben Thomas Cooper, who has received an honorable appointment, and the Alvin Austins
because of their little Blessing!
And the Calvert City Baptist church over their new pastor Rev. L. R. Riley. He takes the place of Rev. Haynes. This Scribe was pleased to meet the Rev. Haynes and his pleasant little family just before they left Calvert City for Dowell, Ill. I'm trying to think if I could ever think of Dowell
the Rev. Haynes says "think of DO-WELL" today I have been thinking of and wanting to do well in all my under-taking.
Funny how we get confused with words. Reading Edd Kellow's "Time Out" this heading appears "Long leaves Paxton Park." Some how "leaves" and
"Park" was all I could see,
and thoughts were the trees
in the Park had unusually long leaves, long enough to call our attention to them in "Time Out" see! But it was a Mr.
Long leaving the Park.

I see one Kentucky woman has written a book "Suggesting to husbands to woo their wives." This Scribe wishes she had put it out earlier, before I started marrying. "Wide Awake" wouldn't read it, he goes on the idea of being wooed!!

Sorry I wasn't at the Ranch
the day Mrs. Porter Smith came. Her son tells me she brought a flower. Also states she is not well and has been in hospital for treatment. My Get Well Quick Wishes are

for you, Mrs. Porter, and hurry back the last roses of summer are blooming now.

Also a big white rose for Miss Irene Bailey. Sympathy to the Howard Rickman family, who lost their father, and to the Bereaved family.

Pleasant folks: Rev. Barefield and wife, the Bailey Keys
of Calvert City Rt. 2, Mrs. W.
A. Doyle who looks tired yet happy with her work long sig-
her husband in their meetings
"day and night."

Mrs. Willie Barrett tells me
she has her suit case packed and ready to go to Detroit at a minute's notice. She will be accompanied by our friend and neighbor, Mrs. G. L. Hamilton.
They will visit the Edgar Hamiltons while there.

One pal tells me I surely eat out all the time, not all time but this family did enjoy a fish supper at the home of Eld. Jno. T. Hensons and family a few evenings ago.
Thanks to the Clifton Edwards family for same. Clifton's appetite called for dozens of lbs.
of fish, and we were glad!

We also had breakfast with the only sis a morning of last week, which we enjoyed, and
"lingered over."

The Douglas Bowdens sup-pered at the Ranch house a few evenings ago. Douglas had just arrived from Germany and Mrs. Bowden, nee Elizabeth Chandler of Paducah, met him in Penna. at the home her cousin, Rev. Edgar Chandler, formerly of this county, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Chandler.

Dal Riley of the Grove is still confined to his bed. Mrs.
Riley passed me a letter to read from son Harris which he had sent them and no wonder she wanted me to read it.
All the compliments were to her for being able to handle the situation and never tiring and wondering what she would do if she had a chance at a vacation. There awaits Mrs.
Riley a long vacation.

A new resident came in to the Grove over night a few nights ago hauled in and set down on the Darnall Dairy's front acres. Which reminds me of the Tom Ketting's home being moved from Adams town into the country. Mrs. Keeling says "all my furniture stayed in place and also a jar of milk was unspilled in the moving of our house."

What great inventions we do see, what improvements, and yet some folks I know spill
their milk over their coffee sitting still!

VOTE REPUBLICAN NOV. 4

Political Advt. — Republican State Central Com.

The 1948 General Assembly gave representatives of the Committee for Kentucky a welcome unprecedented in that legislative body's history. This said senators and representatives is something different. No special favors asked for. No meat cleavers or axes to grind. Not even a penknife to whet. Just a group of men seeking legislative aid in making Kentucky a better state. You bet it was unusual, and I'm sure the 1948 Assembly will give the Committee for Kentucky an equally sincere and hearty welcome in January. The Committee for Kentucky will present what is called "A People's Legislative Program," a list of suggestions drafted by representatives of organizations from nearly all walks of life. The program is an overall picture of the state's needs, based upon information collected by the Committee in the last three years and upon the wisdom, born of experience, of scores of able men and women.

The program is too long to be reviewed in this column. You will get its contents from time to time in your daily and weekly newspapers. When anything important is done for the improvement of Kentucky I like to shout about it. And number one on my hooray list is road work. So it is a joy to readers who do not know it already to learn that for the last fiscal year Kentucky was second among the 48 states in highway work. Being a farmer myself, with a narrow gravel lane most of the way to Henderson, I am especially interested in state work on rural highways. The 1948 Legislature upped the Rural Highway fund from two million dollars to five million, and the 120 counties, co-operating with the state highway department, got a total of 690 miles of country roads surfaced with gravel or stone, 3,925 miles resurfaced with gravel or stone, and 332 miles blacktopped. And the present fiscal year, ending next April, should make a better record than last year. Yes, the state and our county authorities are making it easier for farmers to get to town.

In Madisonville recently was warned against lively driving. "Cops are picking up a lot of people for exceeding the speed limit." I was told. I hope friends in Madisonville will pardon me for offering a suggestion to the police. Use the money collected in fines to pay for 20-mile-limit signs to be placed every two or three blocks on every well traveled street in the city. Traps for fast drivers serve their purpose for a few weeks maybe, but the scare subsidies. Numerous signs to warn drivers repeatedly will do more than anything in cities and towns to make drivers cautious than any other measure I can think of.

Seeing the 20-mile sign every ten or fifteen seconds will stamp it on the minds of people better than looking at one electric sign twenty feet long, five feet deep. Repetition is sure-fire psychology.

For your Halloween merry-making, grinning pumpkin, jack-o'-lanterns join with black witch cut-outs to decorate your party table and a cauldron of Witches' Brew highlights your refreshment menu. A punch bowl or large water pitcher may be used to prepare the Witches' Brew, then set the bowl on the table and let your guests help themselves. Large service plates or trays hold thin-cut sandwiches, crisp crackers and cheese or small cookies to accompany the beverage.

HALLOWEEN WITCHES' BREW
2 bottles Cresta-Blanca Burgundy
1 bottle sparkling water
1 cup sugar
Juice and peel of 2 lemons
Combine the ingredients and stir well in a bowl with ice cubes. Chill thoroughly, remove the lemon peel and serve. Orange slices may be added if desired. (Serves 12)

This suggestion might be followed by all other cities and towns in the state that haven't plastered their streets with warning signs.

WOULD LOAD
$250,000,000
DEBT ON STATE

In a special interview from Louisville, the New York Times on October 21 revealed that a mammoth $250,000,000 state bond issue for Kentucky is being planned by the Committee for Kentucky and its president, Harry Schacter, a guiding spirit behind the movement to discard Kentucky's present Constitution. The bond debt limit is now $500,000. A changed Constitution could, however, remove this safeguard paving the way for multiplying the debt 500 times, which is the Schacter plan.

This fantastic proposal was thought to be the real reason why Schacter's interview was withheld from the newspapers of Kentucky, in view of the alarm which such a huge debt increase would excite among Kentucky voters.

N. CHURCH GROVE

BY MARY

A special tribute to the Nelsons, Mrs. Annie, to our editor, Bill, to you dear Elizabeth and Ann Cole.

My deep and understanding sympathy over the sudden death of your loved one — for who can understand your heartache better than one who has had the same bitter experience; and any word I attempt to write to you would merely sound like the tinkle of a bell — but maybe it will help for me to say "Time will heal the Ache, but the wound will be refreshed at the slightest memory — maybe an old blue shirt — a stubby shoe — a favorite song — a special day —

"How well I remember the old blue shirt — My dad wore, Collar frazzled — cuffs, both torn! But to me, it meant shelter in things like being night an Angel's wing!"

May God bless you.

Thirty minutes on Benton's Broadway, Saturday: edging your way through the little home burg, even proud you didn't have on a hat to be knocked around — you pause with your feet aching and start ploughing through the crowd — Mrs. Rose H. Lovett is seen emerging from Kroger's with a bunch of somethings for Sunday's dinner — a hello with Mrs. Melodene Downing and on you go — Mrs. Chester Gordon passes wearing a pretty red dress — Mrs. Lena Darnell Walker says howdy do from a near by car — a few steps farther, the same with Mrs. Claud Henson — you pauses to tell me he rocks his little gran while the Missus cooks supper — A pleasant 30 minutes, if I do say!

This N' That: The new blue bonnet although tucked snugly away for its winter's rest sails high and mighty for the good ladies of Benton and all surrounding communities for at last organizing a much needed P T A for their Benton school. I wanted that done twenty four years ago when I was a student there, and am indeed glad maybe some of my own brood will have the opportunity of its wonderful influence — why some "belly-ache" over the idea of a P T A I can't understand — its a most wonderful thing for both pupil, patron and the teachers don't you! yaw! me about it, we have one organized out here at our little rural school, and its going over with a wallop! If there is any point in wondering how its organization has any thing over the school, meet with us some second Friday night and see the friendly atmosphere that circles around our teacher, Mrs. Cooper, our pupils and patrons! Thanks to the little Weir boys, (Jerry and Joe Ed) and Dixie Green for their lovely remembrance this day. Thanks you Mrs. Bob McWaters for your nice card, commenting on these futile attempts — Speedy good wishes for Mrs. Myrt Houser, who was injured last Saturday. May you soon feel great again. — Nice people, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Butler. — Happy birthday for Mrs. Rolleigh Hett, who has recently observed one. — And its a pair of new every-day socks for the friend husband, who observes his Thursday. — Happy birthday old boy, Masterful Tom attended court this day (Mon.) and comments on Judge Price, Miss Polly ask "does he look like the old picture on the telephone post?" — Overheard married life sure teaches a fello one invaluable lesson, to think far enuf ahead not to say them If some one gets you once its his fault, but of twice, its yours. — Nothing surpasses my friendship with the Kate Landram family. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jay Davis over that new sons arrival. Let's see who the visiting card says: you readers nerves as trying to smuggle day break by a rooster! Until again.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S Fraser Valley provides a historic link with the gold-rush days of California, for it was through this region that gold-hungry miners, seeking the fabulous treasures of the new goldfields of the Cariboo, stampeded in the '60s. Today peaceful farms and thriving towns such as the Royal City of New Westminster and Chilliwack, the Queen City of the Valley, mark the area as Canada's most prosperous agricultural centre. The small fruit farms of the Fraser Valley contrast with the larger holdings where champion Jersey, Ayrshire and Holstein cattle are bred and well-kept dairy herds graze. In the summer and early fall the variety of floral shows and country fairs which are held in every community area feature which draws not only local inhabitants but hundreds of visitors from far-away places as well. At Harrison Hot Springs, famous health spa again open to the public after a period of military jurisdiction, the city-tired traveller can relax in the beneficial mineral springs and drink the health-giving waters. For the more energetic-minded there is sporty fishing, tennis, golf, swimming, riding and hiking. Along the Trans-Canada Highway which winds through the Fraser Valley are many secluded spots where one can pitch a tent and camp for the night in forest-scented solitude. Further along the Highway the scene changes as rugged mountains rise skyward and the Fraser River rushes seaward through even steeper rocky gorges.

For many miles, one of British Columbia's finest highways traverses the smiling acres of Fraser valley (upper left and right). Prosperous farms, dairy herds grazing in lush meadows with snow-capped peaks in the background; flocks of sheep, and the patchwork of closely cultivated fields combine to make a picture which finds its only duplicates in the richest of the English shires.

STATE TO SEND BOOKMOBILES TO RURAL AREAS

November 21. The main theme of their meeting was Bookmobiles, and how they propose to start one or two Bookmobiles in rural areas of Kentucky with the help of Kentucky Children, Inc.

The Accrediting Committee held its meeting in the Kentucky Hotel, Louisville on Oct.

16. President Herman L. Donovan, University of Kentucky, presided at the meeting. Mr. Steed gave a report of the work done by the Research Committee and submitted each project to them to be accredited by this committee. Before a vote was taken there was a discussion of the project by committee members. The committee accredited each project submitted to them by the Research Committee, and approved the Standards for Participation in Kentucky Children, Inc.

Your Director visited Dr. Elmer Gabbard, Mr. L. O. Davis, Dr. J. C. Boggs and other friends of Buckhorn School in Hazard Friday and Saturday. Plans were laid to organize a Hazard Committee, and have several meetings for Buckhorn in that area. Your Director attended church services at Buckhorn School Sunday. It was very inspiring. He also visited Mrs. Ray Moss, a member of the Accrediting Committee, in Pineville to start planning meetings for friends of Red Bird School and for Bell County.

USE OUR LAY-AWAY PLAN

O'NEIL WARNS U. S. COMMISSION OF WANDERING AIR POWER

National Commander James F. O'Neil has expressed to the President's Air Policy Commission the concern of The American Legion over the backflip of the United States to a poor third as a world air power.

In a letter to the commission the national commander pointed out that the alarming descent of the United States from top position in the skies was due to too rapid demobilization of the armed forces and to the virtual shut-down of aircraft production plants since V-J Day.

"During 1946 the actual production of military aircraft amounted to only 1,300 planes," Commander O'Neil said, "while in the first six months of this year our Air Forces acquired only 685 new planes. This extremely low figure of replacement and procurement is less than one-half of the minimum number of planes the Air Coordinating Committee deemed necessary for our Air Forces when the world was assured a lasting peace."

Emphasizing that "Air Power Is Peace Power," The American Legion chief warned that "we do not exaggerate or overemphasize the fact when we say any nation can expect to be attacked in a future war without warning. The United States in such an event would not have a long period of grace to mobilize its industry and resources as it did in the last war."

He reviewed The American Legion air power program which calls for a strong air force, industrial preparedness, aeronautical research, an alert aircraft industry, air transportation and public air-mindedness.

PRICE CONTROL IN PEACETIME

Prices are high and, as a result, some people are beginning to look nostalgically back at the days of price control. Movements are afoot in various parts of the country to revive something resembling the OPA. The old habit of looking for an easy way out of trouble by cracking a joke, borrowing a billion dollars, or writing a law seems to still be with us, although the time for such foolishness is clearly past.

Price control was an emergency wartime measure to force maximum war production. It made no difference if an artificially low price on a certain non-essential article drove that article from the market—it resulted in the diversion of more energy into war material. Patriotism impelled the people to support any measure that would help bring hostilities to a successful end. That was why they sanctioned price control.

But there is no excuse for price control in the United States in peacetime. It would mean the scrapping of American ideas and the creation of a bureaucracy such as is throttling England. It would mean political control over every detail of our lives. Hope would give way to despair as productive activity was blocked by senseless red tape. Controlled price tags would become a farce as there would be fewer articles to hang them on. The black market would become the true supply-and-demand market of the country. The consumer, along with honest producers and retailers, would suffer.

The United States is a land of opportunity for energetic individuals. It is about the only spot left in the world where there is hope. Let's keep it that way!

DUMMIT SAYS T.V.A. IS SOCIALISTIC

KENTUCKY UTILITIES ADVERTISING PRAISED BY G. O. P. CANDIDATE; ANOTHER DUMMIT "ABOUT FACE"
ATTACK ON T V A PLEASES DUMMIT

Here's Proof of Dummit's Deceit in Professing Love for the T.V.A.

The Courier-Journal

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1944

Here's What Dummit Thinks About T.V.A.

The Courier-Journal Frankfort Bureau.
Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 31.—"It's a darn good ad," Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit said today of last week's advertisement of Kentucky Utilities Company showing the "octopus of socialism," one tentacle of which was labeled T.V.A., destroying the roots of a tree labeled "The American business system."

"There are things in that advertisement that ought to be taught in school," Dummit said. "I don't see how it could be construed a political ad unless Roosevelt will admit his New Deal Party is an octopus of socialism."

Opinion Is Asked.
The attorney general's comment was in response to questions as to whether or not he considers the advertisement a violation of the Corrupt Practices Act, which forbids corporations from contributing anything of value, directly or indirectly, toward the nomination or election of any State, County, City or District officer. Presidential electors are State officers. The advertisement was run in newspapers located in communities served by Kentucky Utilities. Dummit's comment followed publication of the advertisement free of cost in The Courier-Journal Sunday and editorial comment by the newspaper suggesting that the attorney general and Commonwealth's attorneys investigate whether or not Kentucky's Corrupt Practices Act governing corporations' participation in elections would apply to the company's publication of the advertisement.

CAN YOU BELIEVE?

On July 5, 1947, in his primary opening speech at Somerset, Dummit said: "No responsible candidate would promise a definite sum unless he were certain that the money is coming in."

He now promises specific expenditures far in excess of State tax collections, and at the same time professes to oppose any new taxes.

On July 31, 1947, at Pikeville, Dummit said: "If I am elected governor, you can be assured I will not re-draft J. Stephen Watkins (as highway commissioner)."

On September 27, 1947, at a Republican rally in Louisville, Dummit complimented the Highway Department for its progress and clearly implied that he would re-appoint Watkins.

On July 11, 1947, he urged the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature.

Just four days later, July 15, 1947, he was among the first to shout "dictatorial" in opposition to the call the governor was planning to make.

At Ashland, on July 29, 1947, Dummit said:

"There has been more crookedness in four years of this Republican administration than there was in twelve years of Democratic administrations which preceded it."

Now, Dummit asks you on his billboards to "keep clean government" at Frankfort.

FRIEND OF EDUCATION?

Your "home" Teachers College at Murray, which now has the largest enrollment in its history was given a $225,000 appropriation in the 1946 budget bill by the Democratic legislature which was VETOED by this present Republican administration which now tries to mislead you into believing that a Republican victory would best advance the cause of education in Kentucky.

THE BOARD APPROVED LEASING THE POULTRY BUILDING AND TWO CATTLE BARN TO INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY FOR STORAGE PURPOSES. THE POULTRY BUILDING WAS LEASED FOR $800 MONTHLY, AND EACH BARN FOR $75.00 PER MONTH. THE FAIR BOARD HOPES EVENTUALLY TO REALIZE AS MUCH AS $50,000 A YEAR FROM FAIR PROPERTY RENTED TO OUTSIDE SOURCES DURING OFF SEASON MONTHS.

After the smoke has cleared away and the State Fair Board summarized the activities of the 1947 Kentucky State Fair, the records show that the attendance exceeded 350,000, more than $60,000 was cleared, more than 1,700 head of livestock shown, the largest farm machinery in the Central Midwest this year, 43 county exhibits, all space sold in the M & M Building, and a completely inside rebuilding of the horse show pavilion.

The board voted to pay off $278,000 worth of outstanding bonds, some of them not due until 1965, using operating revenue and funds paid by Tube Turns, Inc. for rental of Fair grounds and buildings during the war. Fair board president James Rash, who has attended the Fair for the past 40 years, stated that this is the first time in many years that the Kentucky State Fair is debt free.

Manager J. O. Mattick, stated that a lease with the Ford Motor Company was renewed.

John Wheeler, assistant manager, said trotting races would be held at the 1948 Fair for the first time in years, adding this decision had been made following this year's Fair.

GENERAL ASSOCIATION OF BAPTISTS MEET IN OWENSBORO, NOV. 11-13

RESEARCH COMMITTEE MEET ON OCTOBER 10

The Research Committee met in the Kentucky Hotel, Louisville, October 10. Dr. J. W. Taylor, President of the University of Louisville, presided at the meeting. Each proposed project was thoroughly discussed and voted on. Captain William Kiefer reported on the work of KFOA in connection with Boys' Clubs. For each of the other projects Mr. Steed gave a complete report of the research work done. The committee accepted each project and submitted recommendations to the Accrediting Committee.

Save The Children Federation's Committee met with Mr. H. F. Wilkie, Chairman, on October 13. Save The Children Federation made application for participation in Kentucky Children, Inc., and passed on the proposed budget for the coming year. This budget included funds from Kentucky Children, Inc.

The Friends of Kentucky Library held a meeting in the offices of Kentucky Children, Inc. on October 13. They drew up plans for a reorganization of their group, and made plans for a large state-wide meeting to be held in Louisville on for by amendment. By the amendment method of changing the organic law the wishes of the people will be met on every issue, no matter how controversial. Complying with the wishes of the people on a single issue can be evaded in a new Constitution by tying a lot of things the people are not in with some that they are for.

just as a minority in a legislative group attach a rider to a must bill of the majority. Let's not let that happen to us.

Let's all vote "No" and not give the proponents of a Constitution convention a chance to force on us something that we do not want. The Ten Commandments have not been changed. We have the same Federal Constitution we started with. Its effect has only been changed by amendment. We have a State Constitution patterned after the Federal Constitution which provides as does the Federal, changes by amendment, so let's use the amendment method if we want to change the Kentucky Constitution and not take any chances on getting a lot we don't want in order to get a little that we do want. Vote No on the Constitutional Convention Question November 4.

proper name, "is a Gaelic word meaning 'son' according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. To light up homes in the West Indies glow worms, beetles and fireflies are sometimes confined in lanterns.

Q. Is it possible to raise ducks that will weigh 5 to 6 lbs. at 10 weeks of age? How much feed will they require?

A. Many commercial plants are raising ducks that reach 6 lbs. in approximately 9 weeks. To reach this rapid growth, the ducks are fed special duck rations, and each duck will require approximately 22 lbs. of feed.

Q. What is the best treatment for ringworm or "Barn Itch"?

A. Ringworm responds readily to proper treatment. Any one of the following may be used and should be applied to the affected parts daily until cleared up.

1. Sulphur ointment.
2. A saturated solution of salicylic acid in alcohol.
3. Whitfield's Ointment, which consists of salicylic acid 1 gram, benzoic acid 2 grams and petrolatum or lanolin 30 grams.

Q. How important is the pasture as part of a profitable hog program?

A. According to the Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company, pastures are important because they save feed and help keep the hog herd healthy. This farm has found pastures for hogs very valuable when properly developed and used.

Q. How should snuffles in rabbits be treated?

A. Some rabbit raisers use nose drops and vaccines, but in general the use of these has been disappointing. If you identify the disease soon enough, it may help to give each infected rabbit a grain of sulfathiazole plus 1/4 grain of baking soda per pound of live weight. Give this dose once a day for 5 days. You can probably get sulfathiazole from your local veterinarian. Even when rabbits do recover from snuffles, however, it is a good idea to dispose of them and start with clean breeding stock. Rabbits that recover are likely to be carriers and may be a constant source of infection to other rabbits.

ROOFS

Some future historian of our folkways will be sure to have a chapter or so on the significance this may sound casual observer this may sound far-fetched as a phase of folk customs, but suppose we take a preliminary view of the subject.

In the earliest days of America it was a task to build a house, for the cross-cut saw had not been invented, and sawmills were still in the future. Houses were covered with rived-out planks, thinner than the hewed puncheons that formed floors, that is, when there were floors. With-out nails to fasten them down, it was necessary to peg down a pole that would hold a whole "course" of these timbers in place. Of course, in some places, particularly French Canada, thatch roofs appeared and still do, but the board roof apparently was our first one.

With the coming of square or other nails and the cross-cut saw home-made boards became the rule. I can remember when many of the houses were covered with these boards. I have helped make boards, that is, I piled them in straight piles or stacks while Father made them. It had already become slightly old-fashioned for residences to be covered with these home-made boards when I could first remember, but all barns and out-buildings were covered in this way on through my days at Fidelity. For some reason the length of the board set the standard of style; if it were quite long, then the house seemed tacky; but a short board, particularly one that had been dressed down with a drawing knife, was almost stylish.

Shingle roofs became common, even at Fidelity, before I was born. A house so covered was good for many, many more years of ease about the rain. Only a few well-to-do people indulged in the expense of shingle roofs on a barn; that was looked on as unnecessary extravagance. I can remember how we felt slightly ashamed of the houses that still had home-made boards for a roof, especially if the boards were curled up at the ends.

When the little one-roomed schoolhouse at Fidelity was built, it had two extravagances: fetched-on decks and a corrugated metal roof. For years that must have been the only metal-roofed building in the whole area. Those corrugations were deep and could catch a ball easily if a small limb had fallen crosswise of the roof; that necessitated a trip up the bellpost to dislodge the ball when it had got caught during an exciting game of any- over. Metal roofs did not come into use as much in Fidelity as in our mountains and those of Tennessee.

Not long before I left Fidelity, the tar paper roof became the thing, though for a long time we had only the duller colors imaginable. So useful and easily attached a roof was bound to be popular. The making of home-made boards soon became almost a lost art. From diaphanous colors the tar paper has become our most used form of roofing today, with its added use as siding. And there are about as many grades and styles of it as could be wished so that tar paper as such is no standard of style, good or bad.

Metal roofing has taken a new turn lately, and some of our buildings shine with bright new aluminum as well as the more ordinary sheet metal. It is not at all unusual to see even cabins roofed now with metal roofing, which once would have been the mark of the very classiest houses.

Except in towns or on very expensive country houses slate does not appear much in this part of the world, though common elsewhere. Tiles, too, are scarce except on large buildings. Various types of tar-pebbled roofs are pretty well limited to large, flat roofs of business buildings. Our distinctive roofs have been the pioneer timber, the home-made board, and the shingle. And the superior feeling that used to come because of a special type of roofing seems now to have oozed away. A roof, what ever its value today, has its greatest value in keeping out the rain.

VOTE NO NOVEMBER 4 ON THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
(By Elwood Gordon)

To me there are three divisions of the law that govern
the conduct of a Kentucky Citizen, which, in order of their superiority are: (1) The law of God, laid down in the ten commandments; (2) The Grant of Power by the people to the Federal Government as is evidenced by the Constitution of the United States and the Bill of Rights; (3) The people of Kentucky to be exercised by them as they see fit.

In the past the people of this state have chosen to have a Constitutional form of Government with three divisions of power, namely, the executive, judicial and legislative. The Constitution is the body of rules
by which these three divisions of power are governed.
Kentucky is a sovereignty and according to Cooley on Constitutional Law, "the term soverignty in its full sense imports
the supreme, absolute, and uncontrollable power by which any independent state is governed." While the term Constitution may be defined as "the body of rules and maxims in accordance with which the powers of sovereignty are habitually exercised."

We can, therefore, see from the above definition that there can be only one of two results to be gained from changing the Constitution. One is to give more power to our officials at Frankfort or further restrict their powers by recapturing
some of the power to the people heretofore granted. The people who are for the change,
I dare say, want the state Government to have more power over individual liberties of the citizenry, while the people who oppose a new Constitution feel that they should have a right to make the necessary change
by taking up a single issue at the time, as is now provided

ton and Marshall county.
